

SOCIETY LIFE IN WASHINGTON

The family of Mr. Justice Wythe will spend the winter in Washington.

Regular afternoon receptions will now commence in good season.

Mrs. K. F. Postmaster Tyler has taken rooms for the winter in Georgetown, at Mrs. Abbott's, on West street.

Mrs. Attorney General Williams gave a dinner party to a select circle of personal friends at her residence on the corner of Second and D streets.

Mrs. Postmaster General Crewell, so extensively repeated and believed in Washington, returns here next Wednesday for the season.

Mr. Justice Wayne entertained the Justices of the Supreme Court at a dinner party at his residence. They will be entertained by Secretary Felt next Wednesday.

Early this month Mrs. James M. Corlies, an accomplished and accomplished woman, who has many graces, will complete her January journey to New York.

Miss Emma Perkins, so healthy and talented that she is called the "Goddess of Graces," is, it is said, to be married to Mr. Mason, a prominent and wealthy gentleman of the city of New York.

Rev. Admiral Warden, of minister fame, is about to be placed at the head of one of the branches of the Navy Department. With his sea and social graces he will receive a most desirable appointment.

Mrs. Admiral Dahlgren will gather around her the fashionable of Washington this winter, at the residence of Mr. J. M. Smith and Mr. J. C. Smith, Lieut. Vinton Goodland, a young gentleman now large lake, and the water is so shallow that it is necessary to wade. While the water is so shallow, it is necessary to wade. While the water is so shallow, it is necessary to wade. While the water is so shallow, it is necessary to wade.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

that a vast increase of labor has been performed within this city during the last year. The organization and arrangement of the office, the use of the most modern skillful and mechanical departments, have remained the same. The same system of labor, the same cooperative ease and comfort, and, last, the same patient satisfaction and benefit.

A new set of premiums are to be offered by the University. They are called "University Premiums" and are derived from the income of a donation made to the university by Mr. J. C. Hartshorn, a graduate of the class of 1841. These premiums are given to the members of the senior class who are found superior to those who have excelled in the preparatory in-